SCRA Introduces the Gold Order of Mercury

After consideration of the SCRA National Board earlier this year, the association began offering a Gold Order of Mercury to honor any Signal Soldier who has given the ultimate sacrifice in the war on terror. This award is presented to the soldier posthumously and should be used by the unit to present to the family members during a memorial ceremony or event that recognizes the soldier. This award is free to the unit. We just need to know as soon as possible so that we can expediently prepare, package, and ship the award to you. At the same time, we are offering a Gold Wahatchee for their spouse. This is also free and you only need to let us know names of all concerned. Contact the SCRA National for more information.

The photo and letter of gratitude came from LTC John Moelter, from Fort Stewart who was on hand to present one of the first Gold Order of Mercury Awards to Mrs. Michael Deem to honor her husband.

Dear SCRA National,

Attached are pictures from the Gold Order of Mercury presentation to MRS. Deem. She asked me to pass on her extreme gratitude to the SCRA for the beautiful tribute to Michael and her. We presented the awards on 18 May 2006, at Club Stewart, during the combined college graduation ceremony where MRS Deem received an honorary diploma on behalf of her husband. Everything went very well and it was an awesome setting for the presentation. MG Webster gave us a "great job."

Thanks for all those who played a part in this.

New Manager on Board

Bryan Tuschen, SCRA National Manager

I am excited to be serving the Signal Corps Regimental Association as the new National manager. I have known Robbe Ostby for many years and it is a pleasure to follow in her footsteps. As Craig Zimmerman noted, we are no longer located in the Regimental Hall. The convenience of working out of the home has many benefits, however, it also creates some challenges. We had to change our phone & fax numbers, the new numbers are listed in this Network and also on our web page. Please remember to include commercial phone numbers with your correspondence; we are unable to use DSN. If you leave a message with a DSN number, I will not be able to return your phone call. The website and email address have not changed. The new office address is listed in this Network and online.

We have just installed new software to manage the membership; we soon will have it completely updated and plan on sending renewal messages to our expired members. Please take the time to provide us with your email address so we can keep in contact. If you are a chapter POC or Chapter Officer and are not receiving periodic chapter roster updates from us, please provide us with your current contact information and the position that you hold for the chapter. We would appreciate it if all chapter secretaries would send us your most current roster of officers with contact information so we can match it with what we have on file..

The Network will be strictly online following this publication, limited copies will still be printed for Chapters, Signal Units and Corporate sponsors. We encourage chapters who have websites to provide a link on your website to the National site and in addition we invite local chapters to have links provided from the National website. We will be making updates to our website in the upcoming months, our hopes are to have all award submissions done online which will save all of us time. We have also noticed that members like to award other members with memberships to the Association, so we are making the membership online submission more complete to accommodate all current members and future members. We have already made changes to the SCRA Online Store.

The Association has already experienced changes in the pricing of many of the items that we stock to include the Award medallions. We are currently looking at how to manage these price changes; however, we may need to pass these increases on to our members. We are all faced with price increases in every part of our daily lives, I guess that the Association is not exempt from them either.

I look forward to serving your needs for many years to come.

To All Members

Craig Zimmerman, Executive Officer, Signal Corps Regimental Association

I want to take this opportunity to bring you up to date on a number of initiatives we are working.

First of all, this may be your last Network. Printing costs are only going up. We are working to use those resources better in other ways yet provide you the information you need from your SCRA National Headquarters. To that end, the Chief of Signal, BG Strong, put out an email addressed to primarily the "6" address group that spoke to SCRA and how you can continue to make sure SCRA is an integral part of your organization. We sent this one to the "6s" primarily because the change in signal structure has made the S6 and G6 officers at corps and below - also a great many officers serving as a 6 in many different locations and at many different echelons - the focal point for a significant portion of our Signal soldiers. We want to send these offices a few hard copies so that you have something in your office about SCRA. At the same time, we want to keep you informed about the Regiment and SCRA by using your email address. Unfortunately, as a private Organization, we cannot use the resources of AKO to send you The Network. But if you send us your email address, you will continue to get a copy of the network.

Many of you may know by now that our SCRA manager of a number of years, Ms Robbe Ostby, has moved on. We thank her for her wonderful service to our organization. Robbe was responsible for a number of initiatives over the years that made a difference.

Please welcome Mr Bryan Tuschen. Bryan is no stranger to SCRA. You may remember that his wife, Amy, was our first manager in 2001. Bryan will do a great job and will always have Amy for advice. Our National office has also moved out of the Regimental Hall on Ft Gordon and Bryan will operate out of his home locally. For most members, this move will be totally transparent. Many of the awards submissions and payments were done electronically through email and the web. Speaking of the web, make sure you bookmark signalcorps.org on your favorites.

And speaking of awards, if there is one continuing issue that we experience is that the nominators are not reviewing the criteria for the various awards that we provide. This

New Battalion Activated

Originally in The Signal

By: Charmain Z. Brackett, Correspondent

At right: Col. Karen Adams, garrison commander, hands the Medical Retention Process Battalion flag to Lt. Col. Harry Kenney, battalion commander in a ceremony on July 28.

To better serve its mission of assisting injured or wounded Soldiers, Fort Gordon (GA) activated a new battalion on July 28.

“We’ve processed 700 Soldiers in just a year,” said Col. Karen Adams, garrison commander at the ceremony for the Medical Retention Process Battalion in the auditorium at Dwight David Eisenhower Army Medical Center.

“The Army has seen fit to increase our capacity,” she said. Initially, a single company served those Soldiers. A second company was activated at the end of June.

Numbers in the companies and battalions fluctuate; however, Adams said “we are poised to grow from 150 to 315.”

Maj. Charles Hansrote was the commander of the initial company.

“Our mission was to care for National Guard and Army Reservists who were wounded, injured or sick and served in Operation Enduring Freedom or Operation Iraqi Freedom,” he said. “We have a dual mission with U.S. Army Medical Command and Installation Management Agency.”

Leading the new battalion is Lt. Col. Harry Kenney, 64.

“I came out of retirement in 1993. I’m a retired reservist. I’ve walked the walk. I know the concerns you have,” he said. “My mission is taking care of Soldiers. I truly want you to get well.”

30th Signal Battalion Cuts Ribbon to New Information Systems Facility

By Bill McPherson
516th Signal Brigade

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Hawaii — A new, state-of-the-art Information Systems Facility for the Army in Hawaii was officially opened Jan. 31 at a ribbon-cutting ceremony here.

LTC Darryl S. Shaw, commander, 30th Signal Battalion, was the keynote speaker at the ceremony and helped cut the ribbon. His battalion operates and maintains the new facility.

“The ISF we’re opening this morning is the culmination of the efforts and teamwork of Soldiers, civilians, and industry partners in attendance today,” Shaw told the audience.

“The success we celebrate today is also due to the efforts on our behalf by the Hawaii Congressional delegation, the Headquarters, Department of the Army, the U.S. Army Pacific, and U.S. Army Network Enterprise Technology Command — all of whom recognized the vital need for this capability to support Hawaii’s warfighters and who steadfastly supported the project from inception to completion.”

Shaw said the ISC houses the key and essential communications functions necessary for the Army’s transformation of the 25th Infantry Division.

“The ISC provides critical communications capabilities and interfaces between all transformation projects, and the Information Installation Infrastructure Architecture,” he explained. “This facility provides the critical central hub connectivity to support essential constructive, virtual, and real information systems.”

ISF operations will provide support 24 hours per day, 7 days a week, as a Fixed Tactical Internet management location; Local Communications Control Center; secure and non-secure main communications node of the network switching

63rd Signal Battalion Change of Command

Sgt. Christopher Selmek

Special to the Signal

Lt. Col. Carlos Morales took charge of the 63rd Signal Battalion, 93rd Signal Brigade in a change of command ceremony on Barton Field (Fort Gordon, GA) July 21.

Morales took the microphone shortly after receiving the brigade guidon from former battalion commander Lt. Col. Robert Barker, to announce to over a hundred gathered Soldiers and civilians that all policies and procedures remained in effect.

“It is truly an honor to stand in the shadow of such a great unit,” Morales said. “I can only hope the next several years will be as good to me as they were to (lieutenant) Colonel Barker.”

The “Proud and Ready” battalion returned from a year-long deployment to Iraq in January, and will be returning there before the end of the year. Morales said he felt more than ready to face the somewhat daunting task of getting a unit ready for deployment.

Col. David E. Dodd, 93rd Signal Brigade commander, characterized the new commander as an individual capable of taking care of the unit.

“Some might confuse this unit’s incredible success on their last deployment with luck,” Dodd said, “but this is not so. The more you train the luckier you get, and this battalion is a testament to the idea that you make your own luck. It is a tribute to all the hard work and training they did last year.”

Dodd mentioned that Barker would be terribly missed by everyone in the brigade, but he believed his talents would eventually take him far in the Army, and in the world.

“He had the courage to have high standards,” Dodd said. “He did not seek to be your friend, but accepted the loneliness of command so he could bring all his Soldiers home safe to their families.”

Barker, in turn, said he would miss the battalion, but had faith in the unit he was leaving behind.

“You have shown that you are the best Signal Soldiers in the Army today,” he said.

information is at our web site and you have to read before submission of any nomination. It will save all of us a lot of time.

We do have a new award that I want you to spread the word about. Some of you may know that we have lost twenty two members of the Signal Regiment during GWOT. To honor those individuals and to provide their next of kin a lasting memento, we have created a Gold Order of Mercury that can be presented by the unit to the family. At the same time, we have created a Gold What-achee that can accompany the Order of Mercury. If you are in any position where you will unfortunately need one of these, please contact us immediately. This is free of all charges and can be shipped out virtually overnight once we have the information. All information is at our web site.

Thanks to all of you for what you do. Make sure you check in with your email address to ensure you get a copy of the network. We still suggest that you either request from us or print out a copy of your own Network for your front office. It’s a great way to get others involved.

systems; and a Situation Readiness Center with a video-teleconference center for classified teleconferencing.

Also contained in the ISF is the Regional Network Operations Center, which is capable of providing network monitoring 24 hours a day.

“Today, we are proud to present a multi-purpose built Information Systems Facility capable of supporting the telecommunications and information technology needs of a modern, modular Army,” Shaw said in concluding his speech.

“As we continue to move further into the 21st Century, the Information Systems Facility will provide the platform for voice, network and video teleconferencing services to our Soldiers in garrison, in the field for training, and deployed wherever our nation needs them.”

The 15th Regimental Signal Brigade welcomed a new commander July 7, 2006 at a change of command ceremony at Fort Gordon.

In an early morning display of military pomp Col. Lori Sussman passed command of the regiment to Col. Frank Penha.

Sussman is moving to the Joint Improvised Explosive Device Defeat Organization where she will be working on ways to combat improvised explosive devices that are plaguing American forces in the Global War on Terrorism.

The new brigade commander, Penha comes to Fort Gordon from the U.S. Naval War College in Newport, RI, where he was a student. Previously he was assigned as branch chief of the Net Centric Functional Capabilities Board Working Group, responsible for the initial and continuing joint staff assessment of new warfighter capabilities being developed in the JCIDS. In his remarks to the regiment during the change of command ceremony, Penha indicated that the continued focus will be on training Soldiers and there would be no major changes at first.

30th's Esteban Wins Top Army Journalism Award

By Larry Thomas
30th Signal Battalion

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Hawaii — James Esteban, a visual information specialist with the 30th Signal Battalion's Visual Information Center TV2, has won the Army's top journalism award for television graphics production.

Esteban won the first-place 2006 Maj. Gen. Keith L. Ware award in his category in world-wide competition, having earlier won the category for the U.S. Army Installation Management Agency-Pacific Region.

"Mr. Esteban showed professional creativity, commitment and passion for his work in designing highly complex graphics for deployment and re-deployment videos of various U.S. Army Hawaii units," noted his supervisor, Larry Thomas.

"His work for those videos was the cornerstone of his accomplishments in winning first place finishes at both the regional and Department of the Army levels," Thomas said.

"We are extremely proud of James Esteban on this achievement," said Bill McPherson, public affairs officer, 516th Signal Brigade. "The Keith L. Ware awards are the 'Oscars' for Army journalism. They recognize military and civilian employee print and broadcast practitioners for journalistic excellence in furthering the objectives of the Army's internal-information program. The secretary of the Army sponsors this competition annually."

McPherson said this year's judges consisted of distinguished civilian media professionals from private industry and academia, government employees, and military retirees.

The brigade's magazine, Pacific Voice, has previously earned two Keith L. Ware awards in its category.

369th Signal Battalion, 15th Signal Brigade Change of Command

The 369th Signal Battalion, 15th Signal Brigade change of command occurred 20 Jul at Fort Gordon's Barton Field. Lt. Col. Nello Thomas relinquished command to Lt. Col. Ralph Higgins. Lt. Col. Thomas, a lifetime member of the association, served as the Adolphus Greely Chapter President for two years, and received the prestigious Silver Order of Mercury before leaving his position.

The 551st Signal Battalion, 15th Signal Brigade, change of command, also at Fort Gordon, Georgia, was 27 June. Outgoing commander Lt. Col. Michael Shillinger turned over command to Lt. Col. Jeanne Hutchinson.

V - MAIL and the Signal Corps

By Mike Rodgers, Signal Corps Museum

V, or Victory mail played a valuable tool to the military during World War II. V-Mail represented a new variation in getting mail from the troops overseas and from the home front to the troops in far away lands. Letters were written on specially designed sheets and reduced by microfilming.

By reducing the V-Mail thousands of tons of valuable cargo space was saved for war materials. 150,000 pages could be replaced by a single mail bag weighing only 45 pounds.

When the microfilm arrived at its destination Signal Corps personnel would reproduce the V-Mail from the microfilm to about one-quarter of the original size and then sent to the recipient.

The first large Signal Corps operated V-Mail station opened on April 15, 1943 in Casablanca, North Africa. V-Mail services were discontinued with the end of the war. It is estimated that over a billion V-Mails were sent from the United States to overseas and overseas to the United States.

BG Pollett Addresses Hawaii Chapter at Luncheon

By Bill McPherson
Hawaii SCRA Chapter

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Hawaii — BG Carroll F. Pollett, commanding general, U.S. Army Network Enterprise Technology Command, was the featured speaker at a Hawaii Signal Corps Regimental Association professional development luncheon Nov. 1, 2005 at the Nehelani Club, Schofield Barracks.

About 115 Soldiers, civilians, and sister service officers listened as Pollett presented a slide show entitled “Innovative Network Operations: Enabling Battle Command.”

Pollett said that as the Global War on Terrorism continues, the Army LandWarNet and other Defense networks are prime targets for cyber attacks by the enemy; so NETOPS is a top priority for the Department of Defense and the Army.

“NETCOM’s focus for computer network defense is a joint focus to develop an enterprise NETOPS solution for the DoD and Joint environments,” Pollett explained.

Rather than speak from the podium, the general walked around the dining room as he spoke and presented slides, and then conducted a question and answer session following his remarks.

At the conclusion of Pollett’s presentation, Hawaii SCRA President COL Edric A. Kirkman presented the general with a Hawaiian memento from the chapter.

Hawaii Chapter Sets '06 Regimental Week

By Bill McPherson

FORT SHAFTER, Hawaii – The Hawaii Signal Corps Regimental Association has announced its 2006 Regimental Week activities, which will take place Sept. 12-16 at various Hawaii locations, according to Col. Edric A. Kirkman, chapter president.

“We delayed this year’s Regimental Week a couple of months to coincide with the Sept. 15 activation of the 311th Signal Command (Theater) at Fort Shafter, at which we expect several senior Signal leaders to be in town to participate,” Kirkman said. “They will also be attending our Signal Ball the next night, and perhaps some of the other activities earlier that week.”

Events will include an ice breaker, regimental run, prayer breakfast, golf tournament, and Signal Ball.

Retired Lt. Gen. Thomas M. Rienzi, a Distinguished Member of the Regiment and life member of SCRA, will be a featured speaker at the prayer breakfast Sept. 12 at the Hale Ikena Community Club, Fort Shafter. Chaplain (Col.) Gene Fowler, new command Chaplain, U.S. Army Pacific, will also participate.

Dates and locations of the run and golf tournament were being finalized at press-time.

The week will culminate with the annual Hawaii Signal Corps Ball on Saturday, Sept.

16 at the Koolau Golf Club. Brig. Gen. Carroll F. Pollett, commanding general, U.S. Army Network Enterprise Technology Command/9th Signal Command, will be the guest speaker.

In addition to a number of on-island colonels and command sergeants major, senior leaders expected to attend the ball and some other Regimental Week events include Maj. Gen. Donna Dacier, commanding general, 311th; Pollett; and Col. (Promotable) Jennifer Napper, J-6 director, U.S. Pacific Command.

Participating units will include the 311th, the 516th Signal Brigade, 30th Signal Battalion, 307th Integrated Theater Signal Battalion, 804th Signal Company, Defense Information Systems Agency-Pacific, USPACOM J-6 staff, USARPAC G-6 staff, and G-6 staffers and signal officers and NCOs from 25th Infantry Division/U.S. Army Hawaii, 9th Regional Readiness Command, 94th Air and Missile Defense Command, 196th Infantry Brigade, 500th Military Intelligence Brigade, and other Hawaii units.

Members of the Hawaii Armed Forces Communications-Electronics Association have also been invited to participate, Kirkman said.

CPT Alfredo Rodriguez

A True Leader

CPT Rodriguez center is awarded the Bronze Order of Mercury at ceremony.

CPT Alfredo Rodriguez demonstrated he is a true leader in the Signal Regiment by developing new doctrine for signal support during our National Training Center (NTC) rotation for a modular network support company, its Network Operations Cell and its support for the brigade fight. During the Brigade’s Iraq deployment he directed the installation of the largest deployed satellite/LOS combined network for the new modular structure supporting 2 Brigade command posts, 5 Battalion command posts, the 9th Iraqi Division command post and two 9th Iraqi Division Brigade command posts. His abilities enabled the Brigade to maintain reliable communications and maintain command and control enabling the Brigade to achieve victory in combat.

United States Signal Corps

The Ohio Valley Civil War Association is helping to develop, define and teach the history of signal technology and its practical application during the Civil War era. We also portray and teach U.S. Regular Infantry, Volunteer Infantry, Artillery, Medical, United States Military Telegraph, Cavalry, U.S. Sanitary Commission and Sharpshooters impressions comprising what has been called the best traveling military history museum encompassing the Civil War era.
